Give Fair and Balanced Feedback with SSBIR

Modality: On Demand

Duration: 15 Min

About this Course:

Even though it is always said that feedbacks are welcome, most of the time it ends up being a very painstakingly difficult process for both parties- the one providing feedback and the one on the receiving end.

This course helps to ease the feedback process by helping you create clear and concise feedbacks. This course will train individuals to clearly map out important points they want to raise in such a conversation prior to the actual conversation. Hence, making such conversations more simple and accessible for both the parties involved in the discussion.

By the end of this course, the students should be able to deliver fair feedback in a clear, concise and confident manner; one that is at par with professional standards

Course Outline: