About this Course:

Businesses and organizations are striving to augment mobility standards and improve accessibility by implementing newer and advanced technologies. The advent of technology has made businesses adopt more user-friendly means and mobile devices for running day-to-day business operations. This has diversified the role of the Desktop Administrator and extended the horizon of desktop management. As more and more businesses begin to adopt BYOD strategies, the scope of desktop administration continues to expand.

This intermediate-level course presents IT Professionals and Windows Administrator with a comprehensive overview of contemporary co-management strategies involving Microsoft Intune Integration. Professionals learn the art of effectively managing modern devices and desktops and also get to know the contemporary deployment and management strategies for browser-based applications.
