Understanding the Implementation of Active Directory Group Policies

Modality: On Demand

Duration: 1 Hour

About the course:

Data Security revolves around something known as group policies. Anyone interested in Data Security needs to learn about group policies in depth. In a nutshell they are an attribute of Microsoft Windows Active Directory. Its main function is to add more controls to computer accounts or user accounts. They provide you with a management system that is not only centralized but in addition to that operating systems configurations of user's computing environments.

Target audience:

Any person from IT field or IT professionals

Prerequisite:

This course does not have any prerequisites.

Course Outline:

- Understanding the Implementation of Active Directory Group Policies