Security Fundamentals: MTA Exam 98-367 (MS-40367)

Modality: Virtual Classroom

Duration: 3 Days

About this course:

This is a Three-day long course which has the difficulty level of beginner. This is a MTA Training course which will prepare you on the concepts for Microsoft Technology Associate Exam 98-367. The course will cover all the important concepts of this exam so that you get fully prepared for the exam. The concepts that the course will cover include protection and security procedure topics like, Security Layers, Operating System Security, Network Security, and Security Software. The reason that this course is beneficial is that it covers all those topics that are included in the Microsoft Official Academic Course (MOAC) designed for the said exam. The course has been upgraded to support Windows 10 OS version now.

Learning objectives:

The course has the following learning objectives:

- Gaining sound comprehension of Security Layers
- Gaining sound comprehension of Operating System Security procedure
- Gaining sound comprehension of Network Security procedure
- Gaining sound comprehension of Security Software program

Audience:

The Microsoft Technology Associate (MTA) exam provides with official certification in technology expertise which makes one eligible to start their career in Microsoft technologies. The course is useful to build the foundation of the career by using the opportunity of practical demonstration exercises for the learned skills. However, it does not provide any on-the-job experience.

Requirements:

No prior requirements

Course Outline:

Module 1:

- Understanding Security Layers

Module 2:

- Understanding Authentication, Authorization, and Accounting

Module 3:

- Understanding Security Policies

Module 4:

- Understanding Network Security

Module 5:

- Protecting the Server and Client